How to Think Like a Payroll Super

Denise Ryan (who has been called everything from a human fireball to Madam Chocolate) speaks to over a hundred groups a year, ranging from small businesses to the Department of Homeland Security.

She says the hardest part of working in payroll is that no one notices the ten million times you get it right, but the one time you get it wrong, all hell breaks loose!

Denise holds an MBA from the University of South Carolina and is a Certified Speaking Professional (CSP), a designation of excellence that is held by less than 10% of professional speakers.
